Glouster Clock Project
Glouster Clock
Glouster Clock
Glouster Clock
Glouster Clock
What We Know

- Built in 1905
- Built by Millikan and Hickle opticians and jewelers in Athens
- Clock used to live on Court Street in Athens
- Pictured in 1908 when Taft came to Athens
What We Know

Millikan and Hickle
Jewelers and Opticians
Athens, O.
What We Know

Note the street clock on the corner in front of the jewelry store to the right of the First National Bank on the right side of this image to the left of the American flag. This image is apparently from a William Howard Taft campaign parade in 1908.
What We Know

William H. Taft campaign parade at Court and Washington Streets in 1908.
What We Know

A close up of the old street clock in front of the an Athens jewelry store next to the First National Bank.
What We Know
What We Remember
What We Don’t Know

OfficeMax

Cody Carroll 12-11-12

What We Want To Find Out:

When was it moved from Athens to Gloucester?
How was it made?
How long did it take to make the clock?
Why did they take it out of Athens?
Is the clock famous?
Where did the trains go from the Depot?
Annual Festival:
How to keep the clock from getting ruined
RESPECT THE CLOCK!!!
Make document of its history and the people that are helping restore it.
Search old buildings around depot.
What We Need to Do

- Celebration group
- Social Landscaping group
- Navigation group
- History and Future of the Clock
Adult Mentors
Intergenerational Youth Leadership Development
Intergenerational Youth Leadership Development
Civic Engagement
Hey Mike this is Tessa Fierce from Trimble High School. These are the pictures you asked me to send you! Sorry it took so long, as I mentioned earlier today something came up last time I had a chance to send them and I had to leave. I have to send them from my grandmothers computer, and I finally got back up here to get them to you. One of the photos is of a meat market that was located where Certified is now, right beside the depot. If you look closely in the background there is a train car. So cool! I really am enjoying this project. I love history and I especially love learning about the town. I've lived here my whole life and never would have imagined how much history there really is here. I have interviews booked up to my chin with elders who have lived here for many years. I'm also getting a book that is supposed to have a lot of good information in it. A lady my mom talked to knows someone with a bunch of old things from the town that I plan on photographing and bringing into class. Just thought I would let you know where we are in getting resources within the social landscaping group!

I'm so glad I get to be a part of this, and I will see you next Wednesday! (:
Thanks,
Place-based Learning